

In this document, the term “OSAP Loans” refers to full-time Ontario Student Loans and/or the Ontario portion of the Canada-Ontario Integrated Student Loans issued through the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP).

Purpose of this application

Student loan borrowers are not required to make payments on their OSAP Loans for the first six months after leaving full-time post-secondary studies. This is referred to as the “grace period”. (For example, if you finished full-time studies on April 20, your six-month grace period would end on October 31.)

If your grace period has not yet ended and you are the owner or joint owner of an eligible new business, you may apply for a six-month extension to your existing grace period. To qualify, your business must operate in Ontario and be registered with the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA).

Note:

Government student loans issued through other provinces or territories are not covered by this program.

How the six-month grace period extension works

During the six-month grace period extension, no payments will be required on your Ontario Student Loan and the Ontario portion of your Canada-Ontario Integrated Student Loan. Federal government loans issued through OSAP are not covered by this program.

Once the six-month grace period extension has ended, payments on your Ontario Student Loan and the Ontario portion of your Canada-Ontario Integrated Student Loan will resume. In addition, any interest that has accrued during the one-year grace period becomes repayable.

Eligibility Requirements

To be eligible for the One-Year OSAP Grace Period for Entrepreneurs, you must meet all of the following requirements:

- You left full-time postsecondary studies within the last six months;
- You have existing OSAP Loan(s) that are not currently in repayment status;
- You are the sole owner or joint owner of an eligible new business operating in Ontario; and
- You are currently working in Ontario at least 30 hours per week at your eligible new business.

Sole owner or joint owner includes a director or officer of the business with a controlling share.

Eligible new business means:

- a business that has been registered with the CRA within the current calendar year or within the two previous calendar years; or
- a business registered with the CRA in which you acquired a controlling interest within the current calendar year or within the two previous calendar years.

Note:

You must include your CRA Business Number (BN) as part of your application. The CRA BN is typically used for your GST/HST, payroll and/or corporate income tax accounts. Your CRA BN is not the same as the Ontario Business Identification Number (BIN) that you received when you registered your business name with the province.

Grace Period Extension and Eligibility for Other Assistance Programs

If you are approved for the six-month grace period extension, you still may apply for assistance through the Repayment Assistance Plan and/or the Severe Permanent Disability Benefit Program at any point after the end of the standard six-month grace period. For information on these programs, go to the OSAP website at ontario.ca/osap.
