Purpose
You may request an exceptional circumstances review if the following applies to you:
• You withdrew completely from studies after receiving full-time OSAP funding.
• You had to withdraw because of an exceptional circumstance beyond your control.
• One or more of the following is the result of your withdrawal:
  • You have an OSAP overpayment in your current study period.
  • You have an overpayment restriction preventing you from receiving OSAP funding.
  • Your OSAP grants have been, or will be, converted into loan.

If the review is approved, you may be eligible for future OSAP funding. Any previous grants that were converted to a loan may be stopped or reversed.

Note: The exceptional circumstances review does not waive the requirement for parental and spousal prior year income (as applicable) to be verified.

Definition: Exceptional circumstances
The ministry considers an exceptional circumstance to have occurred if there has been an unexpected event that is beyond your control and temporarily prevents you from performing the daily activities necessary to attend postsecondary studies.

Exceptional circumstances include the following:
• An event that seriously aggravates or causes a relapse to an existing disability or medical condition.
• Diagnosis of a new disability or medical condition.
• Serious injury or surgery.
• Unexpected parental leave.
• Unexpected loss of housing due to fire, flood, etc.
• Unexpected leave due to family crisis.

Required documents
You must provide documentation to support your review. See “Section C: Required documents” for information on the documentation you must provide.

The deadline that applies to you depends on the reason(s) you are submitting the review:

- If you are requesting OSAP funding for your current study period:
  Your completed form and all required documents must be received no later than 40 days before the end of your current study period.

- If the only reason you are requesting an Exceptional Circumstance Review is because OSAP grants that you received in a previous study period have been, or will be, converted to loan:
